GREATEST MILITARY MOVEMENT SINCE THE WORLD WAR

3,000 Marines, a Whole
Regiment of Infantry,
a Hundred Ships and Eight Planes Assemble.

ON PRACTICE TRIP

Washington, Jan. 2. (INS)—The
greatest American naval and troop
movement which has taken place
since the world war, got under way
today.

More than three thousand United States Marines embarked at Quantico, Virginia, on the transports Hederson and Chacmont for a trip to the Caribbean Sea, while more than a
their stations in the Pacific and Atlantic and steamed toward Panama.

The naval forces are being concentrated in southern waters for a series
of battle exercises and maneu-
vers, in which the strength of the Panama Canal and the ability to attack
and defend a fortified land base will
be tested.

The Marines who embarked at Quantico will form the land army in
the Panama maneuvers, including infantry, artillery, tanks, machine gun
batteries, trench mortars, gas companies, sappers, engineers, wireless
and telephone units.

Brig. Gen. Eli K. Cole, is in charge
of the entire force, while Col. William H. B. Smith, is in charge of the artillery and Col. S. M. S. is in charge
of the infantry and other foot troops.

The movement was absent today.
Gen. Smedley D. Butler being ordered to duty in command of the Philadelphia police.

The operations in the South will center about the Canal Zone and the Culebra Island off the coast of Porto Rico.

An imposing array
of warships which will assemble
in the Caribbean and off the Pacific
and Atlantic entrances of the Panama Canal include 15 battleships, four
light cruisers, 63 destroyers, 11 submarines, one air plane carrier, four
destroyer tenders, three submarine
terrors, five mine layers and thirty-
three supply vessels, including hospital and fuel ships. More than eighty airplanes will be attached to the fleet
with Rear Admiral Robert E. Coontz
in supreme command.

GETTING ALONG FINE NOW

Editor John F. Short has just returned from a visit to his son
Frank W. Short at Philadelphia and reports the young man getting along
in fine shape. He has gained almost twenty pounds in weight since the
fortunate discovery of his real ail-
ment and the reducing of his fractured
vertebra, and is now able to sleep
in bed for the first in eighteen long months.

Mrs. Henry Nicholson of Grampian
left today to attend her uncle's funeral to be held at Beavertown. He is a brother of John Nicholson, who died
at Grampian on Christmas.

Willoughby Rogers, who is employed at the Curwensville tannery, spent
the weekend with his parents and
family in Grampian.

New York, Jan. 2. (INS).—
Detectives today sought in vain
to check back over the last 24
days in the life of Katherine Keller, 15-year-old Reading, Pa.,
girl found wandering near the Pennsylvania station today.
Twenty-three days ago she disappeared at the same spot after coming from her home to visit Mrs. B. W. Green, of Long Is-
land, a woman who had taken an interest in her. The girl could not tell where she had been. Her mind
appeared a blank.

Gives Out Some Mighty Sensible Advice When He Tells the People Primary Is Important.

TIME DRAWS NIGH

By W. B. BROWN
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 2.—"Look to
the Primaries," this is the solution
for suppression of lawlessness which
Gov. Pinchot gave to the Pennsylvania citizens' conference meeting
here today. The Governor and John
A. McSparran, master of the State Grange, spoke at a luncheon which followed a morning filled with
speeches and preceded an afternoon
session of the same kind.

"Personal liberty ends where public injury begins," was the motto of
the conference and the theme of practically all of the addresses given by a number of prominent leaders in reform movements.

The Governor outlined what his Administration has done in fighting
the liquor traffic in the year which it has been in power. He made it plain
he intends to ask pledges of support
in the fight against liquor from
every candidate for the legislature
and then to sponsor two bills which
will give him greater control of the situation which failed of passage in the last session.

Primaries Near
The Governor reminded those who
are fighting for law enforcement
that the primaries are less than four months ahead and that they are
much more important than the election in the fall.

"Do you want this state dry?" the Governor asked. "Do you want this State clean? Do you want this State
permanently reformed from the mess
into which machine politics has plunged it?"

The answer to all of those questions, he asserted, was a careful
watch and 100 per cent participation
in the primaries. The primaries, he said, tell the story, and that if the people let the politicians nominate
the candidates, the politicians
care little what is done at the election.

"An army is never beaten by a mob," and "good people who did work
at being good never yet won an election over bad people who did work
at being bad," were his slogans in urging the voters of the State to take more interest in elections. He reminded them there has never been
a time in Pennsylvania when there
were not enough good people to swing an election the right way if
they had voted, but the "great
trouble has been that the people who would have voted right, if they had voted did not vote at all."

Dr. B. L. Scott, Pittsburgh, manager of the speakers' bureau of the National Reform Association, rapped
the type of men who head federal prohibition enforcement. "Mr. Mellon," he said, "has never been dry,
has had large financial interests personally and through banks in distilleries and his record in and
through such operations has been known for years."

Roy Haynes, Scott charged, was formerly the editor of a small newspaper, and "not a man of big vision
or wide perspective."

David H. Blair, the Commissioner of Internal Revenue Scott attacked as
"politician, pure and simple," and
the who has never been dry.

John McSparran after reviewing
the history of the fight for prohibition asserted that if the laws were to
be enforced it was necessary that
men in high position be not those
"who have or have had large holdings
in breweries or distilleries."

U. S. Should Prosper In 1924 Says Bush

By IRVING T. BUSH
President of the New York State
Chamber of Commerce.

NEW YORK, Jan. 1.—Again the
beginning of a new year finds
all eyes centered upon Europe.
The conditions there are only better
because they are worse.

By this I mean that the people of Europe apparently cannot learn anything except by bitter experience.

IRVING T.
BUSH.

There are some signs that their experience is becoming so bitter
that reasoning by hate may give way
to the process of common sense.

The people of Germany are being
purified by suffering and the government of France is learning that they cannot salvage civilization with the saber. The acute sense of the present crisis is the only evidence that the end is in sight.

If reason is to have a chance, the
opportunity must be soon and there
is evidence that international reason
will be called into play in Europe
before long.

Seeking a Formula.
The occupation of the Ruhr has
failed to produce anything but bankruptcy of industry in Germany. This is beginning to be realized even in France and the press is filled with intimations that the French government is "seeking a formula." This merely means that they are trying

to find a way to change their policy
to one more in accordance with the process of reason without appearing
to have changed their policy.

The economic mills are grinding
on but it is becoming apparent that
this country can, under courageous
leadership, maintain prosperity with conditions in Europe badly disturbed.

The summer of 1923 saw a drastic
curtailment in many lines of industry. It was a healthy blood-letting
and the prospects for 1924 are better today than they were six months
ago.

His connections abroad have widened this perspective to include the European horizon as well. On his many trips to Europe each year he comes into close relation with the big financiers, diplomats and others who direct the nations' destinies.

At home he is the moving spirit in many activities. Under his direction a terminal was erected in South Brooklyn consisting of 123 warehouses, 8 piers and 16 model industrial buildings, covering an area of 30 city blocks.

His views are not those of an idle dreamer, nor are they
the utterances of a man who sits back in his office and gets
them second-hand.

His views are first-hand of a man who knows his field.
And here they are written expressly for NEA Service and
The Clearfield Progress.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—From atop of his thirty-story skyscraper
where he has one of the finest business offices in the country, Irving T. Bush is able to get a wide, sweeping view of financial New York.

And his view of its inner workings and its effects on conditions throughout the country is no less sweeping.

For his position as president of the New York State Chamber of Commerce and active head of the Bush Terminal Company, Ltd., brings him into the closest touch with big business
of America.

(INS).—"The man that shot me
was full of hop."

Such was the statement today of Courland S. Dines, who was shot and seriously wounded last night by H. A. Greer, alias Joe Kelley, chauffeur for Mabel Normand, at Dines' apartment, while Miss Normand and Edna Purviance, another well-known actress, were present.

The police said they were inclined to accept the stories told by the actresses and they were released. It was stated by Detective Lieutenant Cline that they would not be recalled for interrogation.

According to the story told by Greer and partially corroborated by the actresses, Miss Purviance was at Dines' apartment and early in the evening telephoned for Miss Normand to join them.

Before leaving her home for Dines' apartment, Miss Normand is said to have told Greer, who has been employed as her chauffeur for the last few weeks, to call for her at an appointed time. Greer also was instructed to bring with him a package containing military brushes and other articles for Dines.

When he arrived at the Dines apartment, Greer said he found the trio in the living room and that all three were intoxicated. Greer is said to have accused Dines of "kidding" Miss Normand and that he had an argument that followed with Dines,
the chauffeur that as Dines appeared to reach for a bottle from behind a divan. He told police he thought Dines was going to strike him with the police to be in a high state of excitation from New Year's celebrating. The film luminaries declared they were unaware of details of what happened, but their sketchy stories, with but a few exceptions,

tallied with that told by Greer.

AGED MAN AND EIGHT GRAND CHILDREN PERISH IN FIRE

Farmer's Home Near
Oil City Is the Scene of Terrible Tragedy; Sick
Mother Unable to Help.

NIGHT TIME BLAZE

Oil City, Pa., Jan. 2. (INS).—A
man and eight of his grandchildren
were burned to death here yesterday

in a fire which destroyed the home of Claude Emminger, near Tylersburg,
Clarion county.

The dead man was James Mentzer,
72, father of Mrs. Emminger. The children included seven members of Emminger's family and a nephew
Michael McManigle.

Mrs. Emminger, ill, was sleeping
alone downstairs and was awakened
by the smell of smoke. She opened a stairway door leading to the second floor and succeeded in battling her
way through the smoke-filled corridor to the rooms occupied by her husband and mother, collapsing in
her husband's arms.

He carried her to safety and tried
to reenter the furnace into which the
house had been transformed to save
the children but the flames fanned by
a brisk wind, beat him back time and again.

Meanwhile, as the flames leveled
the house, the aged grandfather and
the children, the youngest aged two months and the oldest 12, slept on.

Emminger, his wife and mother
suffered severe burns in their attempted rescue but physicians here
morning said they would recover.

The cause of the blaze has not been determined. After a brief investigation, however, the Clarion county
coroner declared an inquest would
not be necessary.

Miss Ruth Beezer, of Philipsburg, spent New Years with friends in town.

'Progress' Force Holds A New Year Frolic As Guests Of President Robert H. Sommerville

By J. D. C.

The Progress force and their friends last evening were given one
of those delightful experiences which
some times fall to the lot of the im-
pecunious newspaper fraternity and
the even more meek and humble men
and women in blouses who make (nearly all) the mistakes we are charged with—the operating end of the "art preservative." This function
or occasion was due to the generosity
of R. H. Sommerville, of Winbur-

president of the Progressive Publishing Company, and the one man responsible for giving Clearfield what
some people style "the leading and
most progressive newspaper in Clear-
field county." Mr. Sommerville, deciding to show his appreciation of the
accomplishment of the Progress family the past few years invited "all
hands," their wives or sweethearts, to join him in a real feast at Jordan's.

When the roll was called and inroductions made it was found that 78
persons were present. This number
was made up of the office and news
agency force of 21, with an equal number of guests, together with 36 of our 44 newsboys, each with a man-
sized appetite.

Managing Editor G. A. Stewart was
the major-domo of the operation and
directed the affair in fine shape. Following prayer by Rev. Dr. E. C. Reeve,
hostilities opened just as soon as the
waitresses got the turkey and fixin's
in front of the gang, and my what
havoc was wrought by that onslaught
When the signal to "cease firing" was
given, for a time we were of the opinion we had happened in on a hundred
per cent meeting of the "table finishers' union" instead of a printers'
blow-out. But it was a fine dinner
and who could blame us.

About the time the inner man had
been stuffed completely, Miss Ellen Fryer, Clearfield's premier lady violinist, was announced and favored the
assembly with a most delightful
violin solo. Miss Fryer was accompanied by Mrs. Alice Smith Bay on the piano.

Director General Stewart then called upon the "Good Angel" of the town.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

What is the total wealth of the United States?

According to preliminary estimates, our national wealth at the present time is approximately $400,000,000,000. This would compare with $187,739,071,000 as of December 31, 1912, the last previous estimate made by the United States Census Bureau which is now engaged in preparing final figures as of December 31, 1922.

These figures, however, do not represent the actual increase in wealth since 1912 prices of all commodities have increased, which means that the dollar's purchasing power has fallen. Therefore, the dollar is not a true measure of the country's wealth increase.

Giving the dollar a value of 10 cents on January 1, the Department of Labor estimates that its value on January 1, 1923, was 64 cents. On this basis the wealth at end of 1922 would be $256,000,000,000 instead of the estimated $400,000,000,000.

Even so, the lower figure would represent an increase of 37 per cent in ten years.

One Hundred Years Ago.

In 1824—Abraham Lincoln, a lad of fifteen years, was working on a ferryboat on the Ohio for $6 a month.

The Marquis de Lafayette visited America and was received with tremendous acclaim by crowds of cheering people wherever he went.

Steam ferries were operated for the first time between New York and Brooklyn.

An epidemic of yellow fever was raging in Louisiana.

The manufacture of flannel by water power was first started at Amesbury, Massachusetts.

An English bricklayer named Joseph Aspdin took out a patent for a material he called "portland cement," naming it "portland" because when it hardened it resembled a gray stone found on the Isle of Portland off the coast of England. The name has stuck ever since and the modern portland cement industry has been developed from Aspdin's discovery.

The Erie canal, connecting the Great Lakes with New York, was rapidly nearing completion. The first steamboat passed through the canal from Rochester to Albany.

Anthracite coal was used for the first time in New York.

The Colorado beetle, commonly known as the potato bug, made its first appearance in Wisconsin.

The first three-story brick house had just been completed in Brooklyn, N. Y. The town had a population of 7,000. The houses had just been numbered and some of the streets paved.

M. Niepce, a Frenchman, working with his countryman, Daguerre, discovered the science that led to the invention of the daguerreotype in 1826.

There was much excitement throughout the country over the presidential election, due to the large number of candidates. John Quincy Adams represented the east, Crawford the south, Clay and Jackson the west.

According to the latest reports of Deputy Game Protector Wm. J. Delansky, of Osceola, many violators of the game laws were arrested and fined in the past year. During the last eleven months from January to December, 1923, Protector Delansky prosecuted a total of 52 persons for violations, collecting a sum of $1135 in penalties. The violations were in the different classes, as follows:

Twelve persons arrested for poaching guns and hunting; 15 game confiscated.

Seven persons arrested for poaching dogs and hunting; 15 dogs confiscated.

Fifteen persons arrested for poaching their dogs to destroy game.

Three persons arrested for poaching their dogs to chase and destroy deer.

Nine persons arrested for killing game in the closed season.

Four persons arrested for hunting without a license.

Three persons arrested for killing doe deer.

Thirty-two out of the 52 persons prosecuted were of foreign countries. Delansky reports that there were more deer killed in the section that he patrolled than last year and if the weather conditions of the last week of deer season would have been favorable the kill would have been a record breaker. Only 5 does and two short spike deer were killed in that section. The game protector has evidence collected to convict the persons responsible for five of the killings and arrests are expected after the new year.

Shooting of Millionaire Involves Film Stars

Dines' Statement.

Gasping for breath on his cot at the receiving hospital, Dines told his story of the shooting exclusively to International News Service. One bullet from Greer's weapon pierced Dines' body, entering his chest and coming out of his back, and another ripped his ear. First reports were that but one shot of three fired had taken effect.

"I understand he has told police I brought him with a bottle," Dines said. "I never thought of such a thing. There was no light and not even a party was in progress in my apartment last night. Miss Purviance and I had been out celebrating the advent of New Year's the night before, but Miss Normand was not in our party. Yesterday afternoon, Miss Normand called up and said she was coming over. We told her to come ahead and she did."

"When she arrived, we were feeling pretty low and we all had a drink. We sat around and talked for a while. After a while Mabel remembered she was to see some friends off on a train. I told her she was in no condition to be seen at the station, but she would not listen to me and telephoned her companion, a Mrs. Edith Burns, to send Greer after her. When Greer arrived Miss Normand was sitting on a divan and I again advised her not to try to go to the station."

Mabel Erratic.

"She is going with me," the chauffeur said. "Edith said bring her."

"You know how erratic Mabel is. I was at a party at the Coronado hotel some time ago when she broke her shoulder because she would not listen to reason. Again I warned her not to go."

"With that, Greer whipped out a gun and plugged me through the lung, I thought. He has said I tried to hit him with a bottle. Such a thing never entered my mind. Miss Normand is only a friend of mine. Why should I fight over her? She has been going around with Edna and me for the last six months. And there is nothing serious between Miss Purviance and myself. We are just good friends, that is all."

In his statement today, Greer said his safe idea when he went to Dines' apartment was to get Miss Normand home. He also declared that Mrs. Edith Burns had told him that Miss Normand had called from Dines' apartment and that while she (Mrs. Burns) was talking with Miss Normand Dines broke in on the wire and said roughly that Miss Normand was not coming home. He said that he knew Dines was bigger than himself and that before leaving he armed himself with Miss Normand's revolver.

Steel Pens 500 Years Ago.

Steel pens were invented before the destruction of Pompeii, A. D. 79. In the Museum of Naples there is a penpoint made of bronze, still after the manner practiced today, which is found in the ruins of Pompeii, but were first commonly known in the fourth century, says the Daily News. Barrel pens were first made in 1780 by a splitting maker of Birmingham named Samuel Harrison. A bit south of Sedgley, Worcestershire, Samuel Sheldon improved the method of making these, tapering or splitting the nib or penpoint before the barrel was tempered. In 1803 Sir Johnkin made barrel pens with penpoints of steel, brass, silver, gold or platinum. To him was granted the first English patent for making pens.

Weddings

PRETTY HOME WEDDING

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Schenk, in Wrigley Addition was the scene of a very pretty wedding on New Year's Day when at 11:30 their only daughter, Miss Fannie, became the bride of Victor J. Gets, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Gets of East End. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. Roy Hauser of St. John's Lutheran church in the presence of the families of both contracting parties and a number of invited guests. The beautiful ring ceremony was used. Miss Grace Underwood played the wedding march. The bridesmaid was Miss Ruth Regal, of Jersey Shore and Leon Schenk, a brother of the bride, was best man. After the ceremony a sumptuous wedding dinner was served in the home. The happy couple motored to Tyrone where they set out on their wedding trip to New York City and other points of interest. They will make their home in Clearfield. These young people have a host of friends who will join in wishing them a happy wedded life.

THREE BOMBINGS IN FAYETTE

Uniontown, Pa., Jan. 2. (INS).—Two homes were bombed and an automobile was wrecked by a mysterious blast in the Uniontown district today.

Mary Collie, 4, was badly injured and other members of the family were frightened when a bomb was exploded under the home of Anthony Collie at 1800 Vernon.

At Deeds Heights, near Brownsville, the home of Paul Medved, was damaged early today. Considerable damage was done the house and members of the family were thrown from their beds.

The automobile was destroyed on a road near Point Marion. Residents of the district, aroused by the blast found only the ruins of the machine which bore a West Virginia license issued to Joseph Petoli of Morgantown, W. Va. The owner has not been located and it is not known whether there was anyone in the car when the explosion, of undetermined origin took place.

Straw Braid.

In the United States straw hats are made from braid that is chiefly imported from Italy, China and Japan. Of the various materials which go into the fabrication of plated hats the most important is wheat straw. The straw must have a length of "pipe" between the knots and must possess a clear, delicate, golden color and must not be brittle. The most valuable straw is from Tuscany, and from the Tuscan plants the Leghorn hats are made. Many substances besides straw are used in braids for hats and bonnets. Among these may be noticed willow and cane, as well as the famous Panama hats are made from the leaves of the cereus pine.

THE NEW YEAR

THE WELCOME

We bid you welcome, New Year, and celebrate your entrance with all the pomp and glory befitting the Emissary of Time and as one of the forerunners of Eternity.

You have come to us and you will leave us during the shadows of the night. We do not and will not see your physical form, neither shall we hold counsel or commune with you. Yet, all our actions and all our earthly pleasures will depend upon your immediate presence during your sojourn here.

Our recent parting with your predecessor was an admixture of joy and sorrow. To some, the parting year left prosperity, friends and happiness, whilst others had sorrow and distress as their lot.

What hopes may we entertain by your coming? Do you come from the plutonic shores of Mars as an Ambassador from the God of War? Or, are you from the Courts of Infinite Justice, come to proclaim to all the Nations, "Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men"?

And, what have you in store for us as individuals? Will you enter our homes, girdled with a mantle of happiness and good cheer, that we might wish you to remain always? Or, will you enter with a shroud as the drapery for OUR couch, or that of a friend near and dear to us?

Will you leave us here on your departure or will you choose from among us those that are to go before? Who will you choose? We ask again, Who?

RESPONSE

Human beings! Since it pleases you to herald me as the Emissary of Time, I accept your hopeful greetings. My sojourn with you will be but for a brief period. Then, I must continue on with the Eternal Caravan of the Ages. I am not an Ambassador, neither am I the Mediator of Peace or War. Their status is determined by a Court of higher jurisdiction. Of sentiment, I am not possessed. Your human suffering is largely of your own making. I work in conjunction with Nature and if you fail to abide by her immutable laws, then I, at her command, must execute the decree. I am only privileged to choose from among you those that have reached the Three Score and Ten. I am not a Dictator, instead, I am your humble servant, Time, of which I will expect you to take full advantage. Your faithful employment of me will determine your prosperity and your happiness.

The foregoing editorial is from the pen of one of our thinking readers whose thoughts were spurred to meditation by the editorial, "The New Year Begins," which we printed Monday. Read it again and resolve to make time your servant, not your master, during this great year of 1924.

A NEW YEAR BEGINS

Time is a curious thing. We measure it in minutes, hours, days, years, centuries, yet no one knows what it is. All we can tell is that things happen in time, and we measure time merely from one event to another. When nothing happens, when there is no change, we are not conscious of time at all.

Does any point of time matter, more than any other point? Look at the clock, as the hands near twelve on New Year's Eve. That moving minute hand reaches midnight and never hesitates a moment, but goes right on unconcernedly. It is like the speedometer on the automobile, measuring space, which never stops to celebrate at 100 or 1,000 miles, or the comptometer on the mimeograph or the threshing machine, to which one number on the dial means no more than any other.

Is time really like that, and are all human efforts to fix a stepping place or a starting place of no avail?

We don't dare think so—it would be too disheartening. We drop abstract ideas, stop dreaming and get down to real life. We must have our times and places, making our own little human systems in the big universe. We are obliged, for effective living, to treat certain days and hours as if they were really

TURN over the page, for a year is done
And nineteen hundred and twenty-three
Is a book that's finished, a yarn that's spun,
A thing that isn't—but used to be;
Here's a brand new page, and a brand new pen
With which to scribble some brand new love.
We can't write last year over again
So—what'll we write in '24?

SHALL we carry over the last year's dope
Of greed, hypocrisy, hate and doubt?
Or shall we substitute Love and Hope
And leave those uglier passions out?
Here's a brand new page and a brand new chance
For a brand new tally, a brand new score.
What'll we write on this clean expanse,
What'll we write in '24?

THE blots and errors of '23
The blurs and scratches are absent here,
For this is a brand new page we see,
A brand new page and a brand new year.
Whatever is written is ours to write;
Shall we improve on the days of yore?
It's up to us—here's a page that's white,
What'll we write in '24?

different from others. So we have our festivals of birth, death, the seasons, etc., with New Year's day as the beginning of the annual life cycle.

New Year's is important because of the everlasting need of taking a fresh start. Every year most of us fall in doing what we wanted to do and getting where we wanted to get. But always, if we are normal human beings, blest with the undying spirit of hope, we expect to do better next year. So the mind triumphs over time. On January 1st we take a full breath and plunge into the stream again with new vigor.

Time itself may be the same, but we are different—for a little while, at least. And as long as we keep up the New Year spirit, we win, and do forge ahead.

OPEN HOUSE AT Y. M. C. A.

The people of Clearfield turned out in large numbers to enjoy the program for the Annual New Year's Open House at the Young Men's Christian Association, and it is estimated that the total attendance was over 1000. The musical numbers were a special treat to the pleased audiences and kept them in the best of spirits throughout. S. K. Martin's Orchestra, under the afternoon program with an hour's concert in the spacious lobby.

At 2:30 the program in the gymnasium under the direction of physical education Director George L. Shannon, opened with lively athletic games for a large crowd of Juniors. This was followed by a clever and fast exhibition volleyball game given by Messrs. Week and Shannon won by the former, score 21-15.

A real treat was enjoyed by the audience that crowded the galleries and even standing in hundreds around the main floor of the gymnasium, when several musical numbers were rendered by Miss Ellen Fryer, a young lady music teacher who has recently taken up her residence in Clearfield, violinist, accompanied by Mrs. Alice Smith Bay at the piano. It proved to be a most pleasant break in the athletic program. The musicians were introduced by Victor C. Frendburg, of the reception committee.

The music was followed by a gymnastic exhibition by senior members John L. Kurtz, Clement and Edward Hile. Intermediates demonstrated some clever mat work. Captains Wilson and Reed had their volleyball teams in good trim for the ball game which was a very close and hotly contested one.

The visitor's gallery of the swimming pool was crowded to the limit long before the swimming exhibition was scheduled to take place and even standing room was at a premium. First there was a Life Saving demonstration by Messrs. Jack Kurtz and Edward Hile. This was followed by fancy driving and swimming various strokes by Edward J. Wilson and Nathan Smith. A snappy relay contest was won by the Intermediates, McCorkle, Neiman, Kline and Connelly they won by ten feet in 58 seconds. Junior relay contestants were McIlvaine, Harder, Forsyth and Schaefer.

The building was open for inspection for the crowds of visitors from two to nine o'clock and many favorable comments were made upon the splendid building and modern equipment in the gym and swimming pool, which should be taken advantage of by business men and women, young men and women as well as the boys and girls of Clearfield. Members of the Board of Directors served as a reception committee throughout the day and escorted the visitors thru the building. They noted with interest the large majority of visitors and parents.

In the evening the program was opened with an excellent musical entertainment by Kenneth Davis and his young people's orchestra. A fast and snappy basketball game between State Five and College Stars was won by the former team 39-19. Between the halves musical selections were rendered by Miss Fryer and Mrs. Bay with most careful attention by the crowded galleries of basketball fans.

Many business men and senior members visited the bowling alleys during the day and tried a hand at rolling them over. The watch fob, an Association emblem was won by A. M. Pease, a business man and bowling fan, who made the highest score for single game, 199. His score was seconded by W. H. Wilson, 184.

The entire day was a bright one in the history of the local Y. M. C. A. and promises to be the beginning of a series of events in the program of the Association throughout the year 1924. The bowling alleys are open afternoons and evenings and special Ladies' Night is scheduled for Thursday evenings when both men and ladies are welcome.

Washington, Jan. 2 (INS).—A forecast that the foreign and domestic trade in iron and steel would be greater this year than during 1923, was issued today by the Department of Commerce.

"It is anticipated that United States manufacturers will supply a larger share of the foreign demand for iron and steel than ever before," the Department said.

November iron and steel exports were 15 per cent better than the ten months average of 164,200 tons from January to October. Imports of 26,365 tons were the smallest of the year.

New York, Jan. 2 (INS).—After displaying steadiness in the forenoon trading on the stock exchange today, being stimulated by expressions of industrial and financial leaders regarding continued prosperity in 1924, stocks became extremely dull and inclined to sell lower.

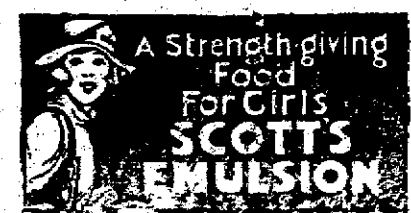

Oils were somewhat heavy, Pacific Oil dropping 1/8-3/8 to 49-5/8, Standard Oil of New Jersey 7-8 to 41, Pan-American Petroleum 6-7/8 to 60 3/4, Gen. Asphalt 7-8 to 40 and Producers and refiners over 2 points to 39 7/8.

Rails held steady although fractionally lower. Steels were also inclined to heaviness, U. S. Steel losing 3/4 to 98 7/8 and Gulf Steels 1-2 to 62.

Paper Made From Bananas.
Good paper can be made from banana refuse. The trash or refuse, consisting of the stems of banana trees from which the fruit has been cut, is run through crushing rolls, which produces a mash in which the moisture has been reduced from 30 to 55-75 per cent. A pulping machine reduces the mixture to pulp and the pulp and juice are boiled and beaten. The removal of the fibrous material from the beater completes the process, in which no

THE BASIS OF SAFETY

Beautiful buildings, strong vaults, marble and bronze equipment do not make a bank safe.

In the last analysis, the strength of a bank lies in the men behind the bank.

The officers of the County National are careful business men who feel keenly their responsibility as guardians of the people's money.

Its directors are successful men in their own lines of business. They give to the conduct of the bank's affairs the same care and consideration that have made them leaders in their business.

CLARK'S COLD & FLU CAPSULES BREAK COLDS

Lots of folks cannot take quinine because of that ringing sensation in the ears about the second dose. Clark's Cold & Flu Capsules contain no quinine so you can take it with the assurance that your cold will be broken without the unpleasant effects of quinine.

Hi Basketball League To Get Under Way Here On Friday; DuBois Coming

The regular schedule of Section 4 of the Northwestern Pennsylvania Interscholastic Basketball League will begin Friday evening in all six towns that compose the league.

This section of Western Pennsylvania League basketball begins its fifth year. During this time interest in interscholastic basketball in this area has grown to such proportions that facilities for taking care of this interest are inadequate in all schools.

For the first games the teams of the league will oppose each other with New Bethlehem at Punxsutawney, Brookville and Reynoldsville on the Brookville Y. M. C. A. court, and DuBois making their annual excursion to Clearfield.

To predict the teams that may have the best chances for the coveted first position in league standing this year would be impossible at this time, since many of the teams that were not in the running last year showed strength at the end of the season. This unexpected development of some teams at the end of each season always upsets the well known dope for the season to follow.

The usual large crowd that attends any DuBois-Clearfield High School athletic event is expected Friday evening. It is expected that as many may attend as made last year's attendance figures for a similar game the record for the local gym.

Pump Shoot Water.

A pump of peculiar construction lifts water by the direct action of exploding gas, in much the same way that a projectile is driven from a cannon. In trials the machine is said to have proved so economical that it is to be tested for use in a large English project for draining Lake Mareotis in Egypt. If the tests are successful, pumps which will raise a billion gallons of water daily to a height of 20 feet will be installed. It is planned, after the work is in progress, to double the capacity of the pumps first installed, thus making the station the largest known pumping plant in the world.

"Old Stuff" From Arabia.

A New York barber recently got some valuable publicity because he regaled his customers with tea and music. "It was 'old stuff,'" comments William H. Ekers in his new book, "All About Coffee," just published by the Tea and Coffee Trade Journal company, New York. "The Arabian and Turkish barber shops have been serving coffee, tobacco and sweets to their customers for centuries. In Arabia and other oriental countries coffee is part of the ritual of business; shopkeepers serve it to the customer before the argument begins."

Minister Thankful

"I had stomach trouble for nearly 20 years, also constipation which filled my system with gas and fever. I could not do my work, and while I was down sick a lady from out of town sent me a bottle of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy which proved truly wonderful. I believe it is the best medicine on earth." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists.

Giant Parrot of the Rockies.

A giant parrot with a massive beak and a raucous voice that might have sounded like a megaphone for miles through the ancient timberlands of prehistoric America, once lived in the Rocky mountains, scientists have learned. The bird stood seven feet tall, and its huge head was two and a half feet long. Of this there is no question, as one nearly completed skeleton exists, and fragments of others, including skulls, have been dug up. Several million years probably has elapsed since this mighty fowl trod the earth.

New Motor Fuel.

Vegetable oil can be converted into gaseous and liquid hydrocarbons by subjecting the former to catalytic processes. This forms a good motor fuel with a very agreeable odor.

Machete and Hoe.

The only implements used by most of the native farmers in Portuguese East Africa in cultivating corn, kafir corn peanuts and beans are the machete for clearing the ground and a short-handled hoe instead of a plow.

SHORT measure in selling gasoline or motor oil is more likely to be unintentional than deliberate.

Each pump or meter is checked up daily. It must be absolutely accurate. Even the receptacles for measuring oil are examined to see that they have no dents which might reduce their capacity.

Tom Sims SAYS---
Last whereas, the same old set of resolutions have been made over until they are worn out.
Therefore be it resolved by the board, that old resolutions will not be dug up this year.
Further resolved, that in place of resolutions we try to do the best we can during 1924.
And further resolved, that it will be impossible for us to do any better than the best we can.
Still further resolved, that doing the best we can gives more satisfaction than any set of resolutions.
And lastly resolved, that the only resolution we will resolve is not to make any resolutions.
We set our hand this date and sit to think it over.

THE BOOK OF 1923 IS CLOSED!
For us, the year held much of good. Prosperity, work that we love and, best of all, your friendship. Last Monday, the 24th, was the biggest one-day sale. 1923 was a bigger year than 1922. Success came because of your patronage, your confidence and your approval.
We open the book of 1924 and on the first page we write, "Our New Year's Gift to our Customers shall be: full value at fair prices, service, courteous and prompt, friendly interest, to you in the future as we have tried to be in the past."

GENERAL MERCHANDISE

Curwensville's
Own Column

The town of Curwensville is going to start off with the incoming New Year with a brighter business prospect than ever before anticipated. In the first instance there are several new and lasting industries to be brought into the town, which will employ not less than one hundred people, both male and female; the outlook for the brick industries is brighter than it has been for several years back and it is anticipated that the large yard above town will be operated to its fullest capacity during the year 1924. While the tanning industry has not been putting out nearly as much marketable stock as in former years, or since the close of the war, the prospects for a much brisker sale of that product in the eastern markets is looming up rapidly, and from the information at hand it is confidently expected that both of the tanneries in Curwensville will be operating at full speed ere the first month of the new year expires, which will mean nothing more or less than a vast increase in business circles all the way round. The Sonny Blouse factory, which was operated almost every day during the past year, will be enlarged more than one half of its present capacity, sometime during this season, which will mean much to the labor element. The Myers grist mill, as well as that of the Hayes, will not have many idle days. The Hoarling Run Stone quarries, which started to operate late in the fall, but was compelled to shut down owing to the chilly weather, will resume work as early in the spring as weather will permit the employment of half a hundred workmen. Mining operators feel that there will be more than extra demand for their product, and should their prognostication prove correct, there will be work and more than enough for those men who follow that hazardous occupation for a livelihood. Therefore, measuring all of these things, from a sensible business standpoint, the people of Curwensville and the town proper will have a busy and profitable summer. The one great drawback is the insufficient number of houses for rent or sale, but we are reliably informed and on good and substantial authority too, that this loophole will be taken care of when the proper time arrives, and elements permit the starting of building some half hundred houses within the borough limits. Curwensville business men are one iota discouraged relative to the better prospects of the town for the year 1924 and will join hand in hand to improve the present condition of business.

Charles Denison and Miss Evon Smeal motored over from Altoona and Sundayed with Mr. and Mrs. J. Robert Eckert at their new home on Eastvue.

Charles and Eugene Smeal have returned to their home in Juniata after a pleasant visit with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller, South Side.

Miles Fullerton, who is employed in Pittsburgh and has made his home in that city for several years, spent several days this week in Curwensville with his aged mother and his brother, Joseph Fullerton.

Mrs. Jard Bloom was stricken down by a sudden illness Sunday at her high street home and for several days was in a serious condition, but today is reported as improving slowly.

Mrs. Ennist, mother of Mrs. John Blake, whose illness was noted in this letter a week ago, is not improving as rapidly as her relatives and friends would wish.

A regular old-time watch-meeting was held in the Christian Alliance church on North Filbert street last night. There was a large number present who witnessed the departure of the old year and welcomed in the new year with song and prayer.

Mrs. Joseph Fullerton and Mrs. Walter Fullerton went to Pine Grove Centre county yesterday to attend the funeral of a cousin of Mrs. Walter Fullerton.

John Proud, a little son of George Proud, Pike township, died at the parent home on Sunday. The funeral was held today interment of the body being made at Centre cemetery.

Mrs. Alice Pent, wife of Fred Pent, died at the Clearfield hospital on Sunday afternoon, aged 37 years. Her body was brought to the home on the Isaac Caldwell farm about a mile from this place. The lady had been in rather poor health for some months, and on Thursday last it was deemed advisable to take her to the hospital for medical treatment. Heart failure was the direct cause of death.

In the Courts

Six separate and distinct specimens of the genus bootlegger started the New Year right by going down to the county jail yesterday for Judge Bell's count of the days they must serve to satisfy the vengeance of the law.

The first and foremost liquor law violator to receive his pay in the wages of his sin was Barney F. Gill, while state trooper, assistant chief of police of Philadelphia, chief of police of Coalport, etc. Barnc was convicted at December court on using his official position in securing moonshine liquor without price and then disposing of same for a price. He was directed to pay $100 fine and 10 days in jail, with privilege of parole at the end of four months on payment of the fine and costs.

Grant Kuhn, who operated a small store so near the Centre county line adjacent to Philadelphia that he was first taken to Bellefonte jail when arrested for bootlegging, was also given $100 fine and costs and eight months in Tom Lowell's soup and bean palace, but if he pays up he may be paroled after 60 days upon his agreeing to get out of business at the place where he had been obliging the neighbors.

Frank Edmonds, a 71-year-old Chester Hill resident, got off by paying the costs, upon the request of Burgess Todd, of Philadelphia, who was responsible for his arrest.

Charles Gaines, a poverty stricken Bradford bootlegger, who had been in jail since Nov. 24th, was paroled on account of the necessities of his family and his agreeing to get a job outside the county in the very near future.

Adolf Dufour, one of the many expert distillers from Atlantic No. 2 who made a bluff at attempting to get his fifty-odd gallons of "good likker" back from the authorities following his arrest for bootlegging several weeks ago, and then changed his mind when he discovered what evidence the Commonwealth possessed, finally got his day in court yesterday. Adolf meekly admitted the charge against him was true and correct, and after discovered there is something in a name. When called up for sentence Judge Bell asked, "What's this man's name?" "Dufour," replied District Attorney Arnold. "That'll be about right," responded the Judge. He continued with "Adolf you will do four months in the county jail in addition to enriching the county to the extent of $100 and reimbursing the taxpayers for the amount of costs made necessary by your apprehension."

Dufour is no doing his four. Matthew Emala drew down a fine of $100 and costs for violation of the auto law, while F. S. Dotts got a similar sentence for running into and damaging Ralph S. Hileman's car and refusing to stop. Sentence on a reckless driving charge was deferred.

Loman Gingery, of Bishtown, who stole a lot of personal property belonging to Elmer E. Murray and was convicted of larceny at December court, will get his mail in care of Sheriff Lowell during 1924, as Judge Bell directed that he pay $100 fine and costs and serve one year in jail.

One of the terrors of autumn is the anaemic poet who insists that nature feels as bad about it as he does.

It's a poor college nowadays that can't muster a football team and a professor or two with queer ideas.

She was born in Italy but was brought to this country when about two years of age. She was united in marriage to Fred Pent and her home life was one of love and contentment. She is survived by her husband, one daughter, her mother and two brothers, one of whom resides in the state of Utah and the other in Huntingdon, W. Va. Her funeral will be held on Wednesday afternoon, Rev. J. C. Collins having charge of the services at the home and at the grave. Interment in Oak Hill cemetery.

Leonard Kantar, who has charge of one of the Kantar Bros. stores at Bradford, and who has been spending a week or better at the home of his parents in Curwensville, will return to his business interests in the north tomorrow.

Mrs. Alice Elder, who had a fall down a stairway one day last week and injured one of her limbs is now able to get around through the house again, although the injury bothers her considerably yet.

New York, Jan. 2.—Jack Dempsey, the well known heavyweight, is on the high seas, somewhere off the Virginia coast, bound for Florida to undergo light training in that genial clime for a bout in defense of his title late in the spring. Mr. Dempsey's opponent probably will be Tim Gibbons, the young man who stepped fifteen rounds with the champion at Shelby, Mont.

Dempsey expressed a desire to frolic with three opponents during the coming out door season. The other two are Luis Firpo and Harry Wills.

Rickard has been quoted as saying that two championship starts would be sufficient for Dempsey next summer. One of them, of a certainty, will be against Luis Firpo. The latter is a sure starter against Dempsey in spite of the fact that everyone knows he will fail to finish.

New York, Jan. 2 (INS).—Critics of boxing form were united today in declaring Young Stribling, Maccan, Ga., school boy, to be of championship calibre as a result of the youth's 12 round victory over Dave Rosenberg at Newark. Owing to a state law, no decision was rendered at the end of the bout. None was necessary.

Yesterday's Bouts
At Philadelphia—Nate Goldman, defeated Lew Tendler, ten rounds; Sailor Friedman, Chicago won over Ray Mitchell, Phila, 10 rounds.

At Pittsburgh—Pancho Villa won decision over Tony Norman, Pittsburgh, 10 rounds.

At Akron—Joe Lynch, Bantam-weight champion, knocked out Jimmy Murphy, St. Louis, 3rd round.

At Portland, Ore.—Fred Foltor Minneapolis, knocked out George Lamson, Omaha, 2nd round.

At Grand Rapids—Joe Lohman, Toledo, and Soldier King, Grand Rapids—latter substituting for Battling Siki draw; 10 rounds.

At Buffalo Rocky Kansas, Buffalo won from Ted Meyers, Buffalo, ten rounds.

SLASHES WIFE WHO REFUSES TO USE
KNIFE ON CHILD

Monessen, Pa., Jan. 2 (INS).—Mr. John Lucas, 37, is confined in the home of a friend here in a serious condition as a result of an attack by her husband who is alleged to have cut her about the face and body yesterday when she refused to perform an operation on the throat of their three-year old son who has suffered from impediment in speech since his birth.

Lucas it is said attacked her with two butcher knives. A patrolman was attracted by the screams of the Lucas children. He overpowered Lucas after the man tried to tell him with several blocks of wood, it was said. Lucas is in the Monongahela Valley Hospital suffering from bullet wounds in the legs received in his fight with the officer.

Miss Mary Picard, of Crozer avenue, is spending a few days with her sister Mrs. Michael Shaddock at Karthaus.

Milford Rouce, of South Third street, is visiting friends and relatives in Karthaus.

Mrs. Nettie Schiefer Coleman, Detroit, has returned to Clearfield to live with her brother, Hiram Schiefer on West Front street.

A southern college has installed a chair of business speech. Judging from a letter or two we have read, it would be a better world.

Guard Against "Flu"
With Musterole

Influenza, Grippe and Pneumonia usually start with a cold. The moment you get those warning aches, get busy with good old Musterole.

Musterole is a counter-irritant that relieves congestion (which is what a cold really is) and stimulates circulation. It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

Just rub it on with your finger-tips. First you will feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness.

To Mothers: Musterole is now made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole. 35c and 65c, in jars and tubes.

PREMATURE BLAST
OF NITRO KILLS
SIX AT FRANKLIN

Franklin, Pa., Jan. 2 (INS).—An investigation was under way here this morning to fix responsibility for the premature exploding of 15 quarts of nitro-glycerine here late yesterday which took a toll of six lives.

The explosion occurred on the farm of John A. Stone, where a new oil well is being shot.

The dead include: Mr. and Mrs. Paul Stone, 27 and 26, respectively, of Sugar Creek.

Herbert, 33 and John Whiteman, 21 of Muttontown.

Robert Kinnear, 45, of Catchel Run.

Eugene H. Neil, of Franklin.

The victims had gone to the well with J. D. Scrivens, 36, and Lawrence McWhinney, 37, of Franklin. Kinnear was to have shot the well.

The nitro-glycerine had been frozen and Kinnear is said to have thawed it out.

He started away from the well to watch the blast and was about 100 feet away when the explosion occurred. McWhinney had been sent to a creek some distance away to get a bucket of water and this errand saved his life.

The blast wrecked the derrick and was heard in Rocky Grove and Franklin, five miles away.

Mrs. Theo. E. Dotz, who has been visiting relatives and friends in Clearfield during the holidays, departed yesterday for Washington, D. C., where she will again take up her duties in the Bureau of Economics.

Edna Leasure entertained at dinner New Years' eve. Covers were laid for six. The dinner was given in honor of Miss Jeanette Mann, who is leaving in the near future to enter training at the Mercy Hospital at Pittsburgh.

GREATEST MILITARY MOVEMENT SINCE THE WORLD WAR

3,000 Marines, a Whole
Regiment of Infantry,
a Hundred Ships and Eight Planes Assemble.

Washington, Jan. 2. (INS)—The
greatest American naval and troop
movement which has taken place
since the world war, got under way
today.

States Marines embarked at Quantico,
Virginia, on the transports He-
derson and Chacmont for a trip to
their stations in the Pacific and Atlantic and steamed toward Panama.

The naval forces are being concentrated in southern waters for a series
of battle exercises and maneu-
vers, in which the strength of the Panama Canal and the ability to attack
and defend a fortified land base will
be tested.

The Marines who embarked at Quantico will form the land army in
the Panama maneuvers, including infantry, artillery, tanks, machine gun
batteries, trench mortars, gas companies, sappers, engineers, wireless
and telephone units.

Brig. Gen. Eli K. Cole, is in charge
of the entire force, while Col. William H. B. Smith, is in charge of the artillery and Col. S. M. S. is in charge
of the infantry and other foot troops.

The movement was absent today.
Gen. Smedley D. Butler being ordered to duty in command of the Philippine police.

The operations in the South will
center about the Canal Zone and the Culebra Island, off the coast of Porto Rico.

An imposing array
of warships which will assemble
in the Caribbean and off the Pacific
and Atlantic entrances of the Panama Canal include 15 battleships, four
light cruisers, 63 destroyers, 11 sub-
marines, one air plane carrier, four
destroyer tenders, three submarine
terrors, five mine layers and thirty-
three supply vessels, including hospital and fuel ships. More than eighty
airplanes will be attached to the fleet
with Rear Admiral Robert E. Coontz
in supreme command.

GETTING ALONG FINE NOW

Editor John F. Short has just returned from a visit to his son
Frank W. Short at Philadelphia and reports the young man getting along
in fine shape. He has gained almost
twenty pounds in weight since the
fortunate discovery of his real ail-
ment and the reducing of his fractured
vertebra, and is now able to sleep
in bed for the first in eighteen long
months.

Mrs. Henry Nicholson of Grampian
left today to attend her uncle's funeral to be held at Beavertown. He is
a brother of John Nicholson, who died
at Grampian on Christmas.

Willoughby Rogers, who is employed at the Curwensville tannery, spent
the weekend with his parents and

New York, Jan. 2. (INS).—
Detectives today sought in vain
to check back over the last 24
days in the life of Katherine Keller, 15-year-old Reading, Pa.,

Pennsylvania station today.
Twenty-three days ago she dis-
appeared at the same spot after
coming from her home to visit
Mrs. B. W. Green, of Long Is-
land, a woman who had taken an interest in her. The girl could not tell where she had been. Her mind
appeared a blank.

TIME DRAWS NIGH

By W. B. BROWN
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

Harrisburg, Pa., Jan. 2.—"Look to
the Primaries," this is the solution
for suppression of lawlessness which
Gov. Pinchot gave to the Pennsylvania citizens' conference meeting
here today. The Governor and John
A. McSparran, master of the State Grange, spoke at a luncheon which
followed a morning filled with
speeches and preceded an afternoon
session of the same kind.

"Personal liberty ends where public injury begins," was the motto of
the conference and the theme of practically all of the addresses given by a
number of prominent leaders in reform movements.

The Governor outlined what his Administration has done in fighting
the liquor traffic in the year which it
has been in power. He made it plain
he intends to ask pledges of support
in the fight against liquor from
every candidate for the legislature
and then to sponsor two bills which
will give him greater control of the
situation which failed of passage in
the last session.

Primaries Near
The Governor reminded those who
are fighting for law enforcement
that the primaries are less than four months ahead and that they are
much more important than the election in the fall.

"Do you want this state dry?" the Governor asked. "Do you want this
State clean? Do you want this State
permanently reformed from the mess
into which machine politics has
plunged it?"

The answer to all of those questions, he asserted, was a careful
watch and 100 per cent participation
in the primaries. The primaries, he
people let the politicians nominate
the candidates, the politicians
care little what is done at the election.

"An army is never beaten by a
mob," and "good people who did work
at being good never yet won an election over bad people who did work
at being bad," were his slogans in
urging the voters of the State to
take more interest in elections. He reminded them there has never been
a time in Pennsylvania when there
were not enough good people to
swing an election the right way if
they had voted, but the "great
would have voted right, if they had

Dr. B. L. Scott, Pittsburgh, manager of the speakers' bureau of the National Reform Association, rapped
the type of men who head federal prohibition enforcement. "Mr. Mel-
lon," he said, "has never been dry,
has had large financial interests personally and through banks in dis-
tilleries and his record in and
known for years."

Roy Haynes, Scott charged, was
formerly the editor of a small news-
paper, and "not a man of big vision

David H. Blair, the Commissioner of Internal Revenue Scott attacked as
"politician, pure and simple," and
one who has never been dry.

John McSparran after reviewing
the history of the fight for prohibition asserted that if the laws were to
be enforced it was necessary that
men in high position be not those

U. S. Should Prosper In 1924 Says Bush

By IRVING T. BUSH
President of the New York State
Chamber of Commerce.

NEW YORK, Jan. 1.—Again the
beginning of a new year finds
all eyes centered upon Europe.
The conditions there are only better
because they are worse.

By this I mean that the people of Europe apparently cannot learn any-
thing except by bitter experience.
There are some signs that their
experience is becoming so bitter
that reasoning by hate may give way
to the process of common sense.

The people of Germany are being
purified by suffering and the government of France

is learning that they cannot salvage civilization with the saber. The accutesness of the present crisis is the only evidence that the end is in sight.

If reason is to have a chance, the
opportunity must be soon and there
is evidence that international reason
will be called into play in Europe
before long.

Seeking a Formula.
The occupation of the Ruhr has
failed to produce anything but bankruptcy of industry in Germany. This
is beginning to be realized even in France and the press is filled with
intimations that the French government is "seeking a formula." This

VICTIM IN CRITICAL STATE

By WILLIAM G. CAYCE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)

Los Angeles, Calif., Jan. 2.—Culminating what police declare to be a blasted romance with one of America's most noted film actresses, Courtney S. Dines, 34, an oil man and prominent in business and social circles of Denver, was in a serious condition today with a bullet hole through his chest, while R. C. Greer, chauffeur for Mabel Normand, with whom he was in love, police say, was held in jail on a charge of assault
with intent to commit murder.

Edna Purviance, another well known film actress, also figures prominently in the shooting of Dines as she and Miss Normand both were present in Dines' apartment on North Vermont avenue when the shooting took place.

New Year Revelry.
Greer or Kelly, admitted to police that he shot Dines "for a good cause,"
claiming that the Denver oil man
"was keeping Miss Normand intoxicated."

Immediately after the shooting,
Greer surrendered himself at the Wilshire police station, stating he had shot a man, and took officers to Dines' apartment, where the actresses were found with the wounded man.

Dines was immediately rushed to the receiving hospital where his injuries were treated and Greer, Miss Normand and Miss Purviance were taken to central police station where they were questioned at length.

Both of the actresses were declared

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—From atop of his thirty-story skyscraper
where he has one of the finest business offices in the country, Irving T. Bush is able to get a wide, sweeping view of financial New York.

And his view of its inner workings and its effects on conditions throughout the country is no less sweeping.
For his position as president of the New York State Chamber of Commerce and active head of the Bush Terminal Company, Ltd., brings him into the closest touch with big business
of America.

His connections abroad have widened this perspective to include the European horizon as well. On his many trips to Europe each year he comes into close relation with the big financiers, diplomats and others who direct the nations' destinies.

At home he is the moving spirit in many activities. Under his direction a terminal was erected in South Brooklyn consisting of 123 warehouses, 8 piers and 16 model industrial buildings, covering an area of 30 city blocks.

His views are not those of an idle dreamer, nor are they
the utterances of a man who sits back in his office and gets
them second-hand.

His views are first-hand of a man who knows his field.
The Clearfield Progress.

merely means that they are trying
to find a way to change their policy
to one more in accordance with the process of reason without appearing
to have changed their policy.

The economic mills are grinding
on but it is becoming apparent that
this country can, under courageous
leadership, maintain prosperity with
conditions in Europe badly distur-
bed.

The summer of 1923 saw a drastic
curtailment in many lines of industry. It was a healthy blood-letting
and the prospects for 1924 are better today than they were six months
ago.

I do not look for anything in the nature of a boom, but I believe business conditions will continue steady, with some improvement during the first half of 1924.

Hope for Farmer.
That is as far as anyone can look ahead under present world conditions.

While there is serious depression
among the one-crop farmers of the northwest, agriculture as a whole will receive substantially more this year than last. The farmer is learning to diversify his crops and not to depend too much upon staples the price of which is determined by a

AGED MAN AND EIGHT GRAND CHILDREN PERISH IN FIRE

Oil City Is the Scene of
Terrible Tragedy; Sick
Mother Unable to Help.

NIGHT TIME BLAZE

Oil City, Pa., Jan. 2. (INS).—A
man and eight of his grandchildren
were burned to death here yesterday
in a fire which destroyed the home of
Claude Emminger, near Tylersburg,
Clarion county.

The dead man was James Mentzer,
72, father of Mrs. Emminger. The
children included seven members of
Emminger's family and a nephew
Michael McManigle.

Mrs. Emminger, ill, was sleeping
alone downstairs and was awakened
by the smell of smoke. She opened a stairway door leading to the second
floor and succeeded in battling her
way through the smoke-filled corri-
dor to the rooms occupied by her
husband and mother, collapsing in
her husband's arms.

He carried her to safety and tried
to reenter the furnace into which the
house had been transformed to save
the children but the flames fanned by
a brisk wind, beat him back time and
again.

Meanwhile, as the flames leveled
the house, the aged grandfather and
the children, the youngest aged two
months and the oldest 12, slept on.

Emminger, his wife and mother
suffered severe burns in their attempted rescue but physicians here
hoping said they would recover.

The cause of the blaze has not been
determined. After a brief investigation, however, the Clarion county
coroner declared an inquest would
not be necessary.

Miss Ruth Beezer, of Philipsburg,

town.

'Progress' Force Holds A New Year Frolic As Guests Of President Robert H. Sommerville

By J. D. C.

The Progress force and their
friends last evening were given one
of those delightful experiences which
some times fall to the lot of the im-
pecunious newspaper fraternity and
the even more meek and humble men
and women in blouses who make (nearly all) the mistakes we are
charged with—the operating end of
the "art preservative." This function
or occasion was due to the generosity
of R. H. Sommerville, of Winbur-

president of the Progressive Publishing Company, and the one man responsible for giving Clearfield what
some people style "the leading and
most progressive newspaper in Clear-
field county." Mr. Sommerville, deciding to show his appreciation of the
accomplishment of the Progress family the past few years invited "all
hands," their wives or sweethearts, to
join him in a real feast at Jordan's.

When the roll was called and introductions made it was found that 78
persons were present. This number
was made up of the office and news
agency force of 21, with an equal number of guests, together with 36 of
our 44 newsboys, each with a man-
sized appetite.

Managing Editor G. A. Stewart was
the major-domo of the operation and
directed the affair in fine shape. Following prayer by Rev. Dr. E. C. Reeve,
hostilities opened just as soon as the
waitresses got the turkey and fixin's
in front of the gang, and my what
havoc was wrought by that onslaught
When the signal to "cease firing" was
given, for a time we were of the opinion we had happened in on a hundred
per cent meeting of the "table finish-
ers' union" instead of a printers'
blow-out. But it was a fine dinner
and who could blame us.

About the time the inner man had
been stuffed completely, Miss Ellen Fryer, Clearfield's premier lady violinist, was announced and favored the
assembly with a most delightful
violin solo. Miss Fryer was accompanied by Mrs. Alice Smith Bay on
the piano.

Director General Stewart then called upon the "Good Angel" of the

Progress, President R. H. Sommerville, for a word or two. This "good sport," if one may be privileged to make that reference to a Presbyterian elder, who, emulating the fabled Casabianca, remained upon the "burning deck" of The Progress from whence all but him had fled, meeting bill after bill out of his own jeans year after year, until at last the venture has "burned" his side and The Progress, like a phoenix in the sun, as an asset at first instead of the liability he assumed at the time the other directors and stockholders got out from under.

Mr. Sommerville gave a brief history of The Progress, which he said was started about ten years ago, with about fifty stockholders and a board of seven directors. He touched upon the vicissitudes of its early years, which led up to the time when its most enthusiastic supporters, seeing the bills unpaid mounting higher and higher, refused to go in any deeper and decided to dump and junk the outfit. He said by that time he was like the fellow with the tail hold on the bear, he had to hang on because he couldn't let go, and at the final meeting of the board, he assumed all liabilities in return for the outstanding stock of the then about defunct concern.

The trials and tribulations which followed were touched upon, with reference to the editors, who came, saw, but did not conquer, until he was able to dump the burden on the capable shoulders of Mr. Stewart, who took up the business and editorial management and by hard work and the effective cooperation of the force he surrounded himself with, worked out the problem, making a final success of the venture.

Mr. Sommerville told of his faith in Clearfield and Clearfield county as a field for such a newspaper as The Progress has developed into, and closed by highly complimenting everybody connected with the paper for their hearty and effective co-operation.

President H. B. Powell of the County National Bank, a warm friend and financial adviser of The Progress in the "dark days" of the past, was next called upon. Mr. Powell paid tribute to The Progress as a newspaper and to its president as a man and good business man. He said Clearfield was proud of The Progress and had every reason to be, because it was a real newspaper, fearless, independent, and reliable. He paid fine personal tributes to the Progress staff and prophesied greater success for the paper in the future.

A preacher was long supposed to be out of place around a newspaper office, but Dr. E. C. Reeve was introduced as the spiritual mentor of The Progress, and strange to say he expressed himself as being proud of both the job and the title. He said we were all fellows at that, which is some consolation, as all who know us will agree and added his full measure of praise to "Clearfield's great little daily."

In making a newspaper there are a whole lot of things to do you have to keep dark; there are also some things about the place you want to keep quiet. We are getting to one of the latter now. For the past eight years Judge-elect A. R. Chase has been the legal adviser of The Progress, and as we are going to get another fellow now, Judge Chase was introduced and his official title made known to the assemblage. The Judge admitted it all and then proceeded to lambast his clients or at least some of the fellows he said he had a hard time keeping out of jail during his term of employment with this paper. He also gave The Progress great praise, but as we expect to have him send us a final bill covering these remarks we are not going to tell you what he said, besides he is one of us and we would rather have the outsiders do the talking. Judge Chase did have a word to say to the carrier boys in closing which was timely and worth while and made quite an impression on the bright-eyed lads who hustle The Progress to you—sometimes.

Another guest of the party, who got in under the name of Editor Chittester of the Pittsburgh Press, proved to be one Joe Ketter, Grover of the City's noted entertainer. Joe got the floor after the speechmaking had subsided and kept the crowd in an up-roar of laughter with his southern court record and another stunt or two. Joe's story of the "Memory Man" had a bad effect on the writer because his memory failed him when he wrote this story and he left Joe clear out of the "picture" till the proof of the article happened along. But at that we are one ahead of the fellow who bought that "Gordon Gin" stove. Joe made a great hit with the carrier boys.

Managing Editor Stewart closed the speech-making by briefly reviewing his experiences during the past eight years, in which he paid glowing tribute to his force, thanking them for the hearty co-operation and team work which has resulted in making The Progress the newspaper it is today.

Miss Fryer brought the evening to a close with another of her wonderful violin solos, her response to the encore being "The End of a Perfect Day," which was especially fitting and appropriate.

Aside from the office force, their wives or sweethearts, and the newsboys, those present were President and Mrs. R. H. Sommerville, of Winburne; Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Powell and Mrs. A. R. Chase, of Clearfield; Mrs. John H. Martin, of Clearfield; Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Way, of Curwensville.

Three shots were fired at Dines but only one took effect, police said. That struck him in the chest and passed through his body, coming out at the back.

Used Miss Normand's Gun
Greer used Miss Normand's little

25-calibre revolver.

Physicians attending Dines, who was removed to a private sanitarium at the request of Miss Normand and Miss Purviance, declared he was resting easily and unless some unforeseen complications develop he has an even chance for recovery.

In a statement to International News Service after the shooting, Miss Normand declared it all happened so suddenly that she did not know really what happened. She refused to discuss the affair to any great length because of her unimpaired condition.

She declared Miss Purviance and Dines were to be married in two months.

After being questioned by the police, both the actresses visited Dines at the receiving hospital and caused somewhat of a scene when they both hovered over his bed and whispered endearments and assurance that he would recover.

Miss Normand told him it was all her fault for having "such an old chauffeur" and wanted to assume the blame for the entire trouble.

Past History.

Miss Normand became transformed overnight from a comedienne the whole world knew to a central figure in a tragic intrigue that resulted in the unsolved murder of Wm. Desmond Fayton. The tragedy, in which she was mysteriously involved, rocked the cinema world and led to sweeping reorganization of the private lives of some moving picture actors.

Taylor, a leading actor, was found murdered in his home the morning of February 2, 1922. It developed that Miss Normand was the last person known to have visited him before he was slain.

Miss Normand's Story.

"I was in another room when the shooting occurred," Miss Normand declared. "I heard no angry words and did not suspect a quarrel until the shot rang out. I don't understand why that man brought a gun to Mr. Dines' home."

Greer's story was at variance with Miss Normand's statement that she was not present when the shots were fired. He told police in his statements that she was seated on a day-bed in the same room in which the shooting took place.

"I don't know why this man is telling you these things," Miss Normand interrupted as Greer told this story, and several times she turned to him and asked:

"What did you do it for?"

Miss Purviance also declared she was not present when the shots were fired, stating that she had gone to the bedroom to powder her nose. She was unable to recall where Miss Normand was at the time but said she believed she was in the doorway to the bedroom. Greer has been employed for the last six years as chauffeur for various actors and directors.

He has been in the employ of Miss Normand about two months. It is understood that Greer replaced Wm. Davis, former chauffeur for Miss Normand. Davis was questioned at length by the police at the time of the Taylor murder mystery.

Dines Identified.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 2. (INS.)—Courtland S. Dines, who was shot and seriously wounded by R. C. Greer, chauffeur for Mable Normand, is the son of Tyson S. Dines, millionaire oil man, broker, and prominent social leader in Denver, and is 33 years old. Dines retired from business in 1918, selling his interests here to Wilson and Crammer, brokers, and went to Los Angeles, where he entered in oil business. He was said to have had more than a million dollars the year previous to disposing of his interests here.

Tyson S. Dines, father of Courtland, was out of the city today and could not be reached this morning, but a brother, Eugene Dines, denied that the wounded man was engaged to either Miss Purviance or Miss Normand.

It was rumored in society circles here sometime ago that Dines was infatuated with Miss Purviance and following his divorce from Mrs. Eleanor Hartley Dines, left for Los Angeles.

Mrs. Robert Van S-haak, Dines' divorced wife, when told of the tragedy said:

"I had heard of Mr. Dines' affair in Los Angeles with a movie actress. The affair was common talk around, but no one seemed to know anything definite of who the actress was."

Dines was granted a divorce in 1918 as a result of a disagreement which came within a year after the couple were married.

Dines was a crack athlete and several times golf champion of the country club.

Dines Critical.

Los Angeles, Calif., Jan. 2. (INS.)—The condition of Dines was critical today and it was said at police headquarters that if Dines, dies a charge of murder in the first degree would be laid against Greer, chauffeur for Mable Normand.

Efforts of the police were being directed today to obtaining a more definite account of the shooting than the tactical of the four persons which they obtained last night.

Bedside Scenes.

During the time that Miss Normand and Miss Purviance were in the office of Detective Chene, both repeatedly asked to be allowed to go and see Dines.

Shortly after midnight, the police told Miss Normand and Miss Purviance that they were free to go to their homes until summoned again for further questioning and both insisted on seeing Dines. They were taken into the ward room of the hospital. What happened there was told by hospital attaches as follows:

"Miss Purviance was the first to enter. She rushed impulsively to the bedside of Dines, dropped to her knees, threw her arms about him and sobbed: 'Oh Courtland, I love you. It will kill me if you die.'"

"Dines had been lying back in the bed with his eyes closed. He opened them when he felt Miss Purviance embracing him. He smiled weakly and said in an assumed tone of jocularity:

"'They can't kill me. Doc says I'm all right.'"

"Miss Purviance continued to kiss him until Miss Normand came up to the bedside. She remained standing, looking down at Dines with an expression of mock reproach, shook one finger at him and said:

"'Hello there, Duckie. I'm not going to play around with you any more—just see what a lot of notoriety you've got me.'"

"Then she stooped and kissed him."

During the night there were numerous telephone calls to the emergency hospital by one or more women. No men called up. No names were given by those who asked regarding Dines condition.

Miss Margaret Gilliland was hostess to a New Year's party of twenty of her young friends at her home on South Fourth street last evening. It was a highly enjoyable occasion.

MANY are the eyes that are turned to gaze with keen admiration on the well developed, healthy girl no matter where she may be—on the rapidly moving thoroughfare or gliding gracefully over the dance floor.

All eyes turn because we all appreciate the girl with the figure so firm and plump—the girl with radiantly red cheeks, cheeks that carry a touch of roses from nature's own garden—the girl with the sparkling eyes, luscious lips—the girl with buoyancy and the spirit of youth.

Not necessarily a girl with even skin, big blood cells, and a girl with the vim and vigor of youth.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

What is the total wealth of the United States?

According to preliminary estimates, our national wealth at the present time is approximately $400,000,000,000. This would compare with $187,739,071,000 as of December 31, 1912, the last previous estimate made by the United States Census Bureau which is now engaged in preparing final figures as of December 31, 1922.

These figures, however, do not represent the actual increase in wealth since 1912 prices of all commodities have increased, which means that the dollar's purchasing power has fallen. Therefore, the dollar is not a true measure of the country's wealth increase.

Giving the dollar a value of 10 cents on January 1, the Department of Labor estimates that its value on January 1, 1923, was 64 cents. On this basis the wealth at end of 1922 would be $256,000,000,000 instead of the estimated $400,000,000,000.

Even so, the lower figure would represent an increase of 37 per cent in ten years.

One Hundred Years Ago.

In 1824—Abraham Lincoln, a lad of fifteen years, was working on a ferryboat on the Ohio for $6 a month.

The Marquis de Lafayette visits America and was received with tremendous acclaim by crowds of cheering people wherever he went.

Steam ferries were operated for the first time between New York and Brooklyn.

An epidemic of yellow fever was raging in Louisiana.

The manufacture of flannel by water power was first started at Amesbury, Massachusetts.

An English bricklayer named Joseph Aspdin took out a patent for a material he called "portland cement," naming it "portland" because when it hardened it resembled a gray stone found on the Isle of Portland off the coast of England. The name has stuck ever since and the modern portland cement industry has been developed from Aspdin's discovery.

The Erie canal, connecting the Great Lakes with New York, was rapidly nearing completion. The first steamboat passed through the canal from Rochester to Albany.

Anthracite coal was used for the first time in New York.

The Colorado beetle, commonly known as the potato bug, made its first appearance in Wisconsin.

The first three-story brick house had just been completed in Brooklyn, N. Y. The town had a population of 7,000. The houses had just been numbered and some of the streets paved.

M. Niepce, a Frenchman, working with his countryman, Daguerre, discovered the science that led to the invention of the daguerreotype in 1839.

There was much excitement throughout the country over the presidential election, due to the large number of candidates. John Quincy Adams represented the east, Crawford the south, Clay and Jackson the west.

According to the latest reports of Deputy Game Protector Wm. J. Delansky, of Osceola, many violators of the game laws were arrested and fined in the past year. During the last eleven months from January to December, 1923, Protector Delansky prosecuted a total of 52 persons for violations, collecting a sum of $1135 in penalties. The violations were in the different classes, as follows:

Twelve persons arrested for poaching and hunting; 15 game confiscated.

Fifteen persons arrested for poaching and hunting; 15 dogs confiscated.

Three persons arrested for poaching and hunting; 15 dogs confiscated.

Nine persons arrested for poaching and hunting; 15 dogs confiscated.

Four persons arrested for poaching without a license.

Three persons arrested for killing deer.

Thirty-two out of the 52 persons prosecuted were of foreign countries. Delansky reports that there were more deer killed in the section that he patrolled than last year and if the weather conditions of the last week of deer season would have been favorable the kill would have been a record breaker. Only 5 does and two short spike deer were killed in that section. The game protector has evidence collected to convict the persons responsible for five of the killings and arrests are expected after the new year.

Dines' Statement.

Gasping for breath on his cot at the receiving hospital, Dines told his story of the shooting exclusively to International News Service. One bullet from Greer's weapon pierced Dines' body, entering his chest and coming out of his back, and another ripped his ear. First reports were that but one shot of three fired had taken effect.

"I understand he has told police I brought him with a bottle," Dines said. "I never thought of such a thing. There was no light and not even a party was in progress in my apartment last night. Miss Purviance and I had been out celebrating the advent of New Year's the night before, but Miss Normand was not in our party. Yesterday afternoon, Miss Normand called up and said she was coming over. We told her to come ahead and she did.

"When she arrived, we were feeling pretty low and we all had a drink. We sat around and talked for a while. After a while Mabel remembered she was to see some friends off on a train. I told her she was in no condition to be seen at the station, but she would not listen to me and telephoned her companion, a Mrs. Edith Burns, to send Greer after her. When Greer arrived Miss Normand was sitting on a divan and I again advised her not to try to go to the station.

Mabel Erratic. "She is going with me," the chauffeur said. "Edith said bring her." "You know how erratic Mabel is. I was at a party at the Coronado hotel some time ago when she broke her shoulder because she would not listen to reason. Again I warned her not to go.

"With that, Greer whipped out a gun and plugged me through the lung, I thought. He has said I tried to hit him with a bottle. Such a thing never entered my mind. Miss Normand is only a friend of mine. Why should I fight over her? She has been going around with Edna and me for the last six months. And there is nothing serious between Miss Purviance and myself. We are just good friends that is all.

In his statement today, Greer said his sole idea when he went to Dines' apartment was to get Miss Normand home. He also declared that Mrs. Edith Burns had told him that Miss Normand had called from Dines' apartment and that while she (Mrs. Burns) was talking with Miss Normand Dines broke in on the wire and said roughly that Miss Normand was not coming home. He said that he knew Dines was bigger than himself and that before leaving he armed himself with Miss Normand's revolver.

Steel Pens 500 Years Ago. Steel pens were invented before the destruction of Pompeii, A. D. 79. In the Museum of Naples there is a penpoint made of bronze, still after the manner practiced today, which is found in the ruins of Pompeii, but were first commonly known in the fourth century, says the Daily News. Barrel pens were first made in 1780 by a splitting-maker of Birmingham named Samuel Harrison. A bit south of Sedgely, Worcester, named Sheldon, improved the method of making these, tapering or splitting the nib or pen-point before the barrel was tempered. In 1803 Benjamin Franklin made barrel pens with points of steel, brass, silver, gold or platinum. To him was granted the first English patent for making pens.

Weddings

PRETTY HOME WEDDING

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Schenk, in Wrigley Addition was the scene of a very pretty wedding on New Year's Day when at 11:30 their only daughter, Miss Fannie, became the bride of Victor J. Gets, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Gets of East End. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. Roy Hauser of St. John's Lutheran church in the presence of the families of both contracting parties and a number of invited guests. The beautiful ring ceremony was used. Miss Grace Underwood played the wedding march. The bridesmaid was Miss Ruth Regal, of Jersey Shore and Leon Schenk, a brother of the bride, was best man. After the ceremony a sumptuous wedding dinner was served in the home. The happy couple motored to Tyrone where they set out on their wedding trip to New York City and other points of interest. They will make their home in Clearfield. These young people have a host of friends who will join in wishing them a happy wedded life.

THREE BOMBINGS IN FAYETTE

Uniontown, Pa., Jan. 2. (INS).—Two homes were bombed and an automobile was wrecked by a mysterious blast in the Uniontown district today.

Mary Collie, 4, was badly injured and other members of the family were frightened when a bomb was exploded under the home of Anthony Collie at 18th Street.

At Deeds Heights, near Brownsville, the home of Paul Medved, was damaged early today. Considerable damage was done the house and members of the family were thrown from their beds.

The automobile was destroyed on a road near Point Marion. Residents of the district, aroused by the blast found only the ruins of the machine which bore a West Virginia license issued to Joseph Petoli of Morgantown, W. Va. The owner has not been located and it is not known whether there was anyone in the car when the explosion, of undetermined origin took place.

A Banker's Grace. A gentleman in the banking line was asked to say grace, and this is what he said: "Dear Lord, we thank Thee for all Thy favors of recent date. OSCEOLA WOMAN STRUCK BY CAR

ET CAN

Mrs. Radebaugh, wife of Prof. J. E. Radebaugh, of Osceola, was struck by an automobile driven by Miss Maude Powell, of Clearfield, while walking along the state road just this side of Osceola on New Year's day. Mrs. Radebaugh, in company with another lady intent on getting out of the way of a car approaching them, failed to note the Powell car coming toward them from the opposite direction. As the Powell car neared them the women stepped over directly in its path and were so close that Miss Powell, an exceptionally careful driver, was unable to avoid striking Mrs. Radebaugh.

The unfortunate woman was knocked down and rendered unconscious. She was picked up and taken at once to the Phillipsburg hospital. The doctors there found Mrs. Radebaugh suffering from a bad cut upon the head and severe bruises, but her condition, fortunately, is not serious.

Straw Braid. In the United States straw hats are made from braid that is chiefly imported from Italy, China and Japan. Of the various materials which go into the fabrication of plated hats the most important is wheat straw. The straw must have a length of "pipe" between the knots and must possess a clear, delicate, golden color and must not be brittle. The most valuable straw is from Tuscany, and from the Tuscan plants the Leghorn hats are made. Many substances besides straw are used in braid for hats and bonnets. Among these may be noticed willow and cane, as well as palm. The famous Panama hats are made from the leaves of the cereus pine.

THE NEW YEAR

THE WELCOME

We bid you welcome, New Year, and celebrate your entrance with all the pomp and glory befitting the Emissary of Time and as one of the forerunners of Eternity.

You have come to us and you will leave us during the shadows of the night. We do not and will not see your physical form, neither shall we hold counsel or commune with you. Yet, all our actions and all our earthly pleasures will depend upon your immediate presence during your sojourn here.

Our recent parting with your predecessor was an admixture of joy and sorrow. To some, the parting year left prosperity, friends and happiness, whilst others had sorrow and distress as their lot.

What hopes may we entertain by your coming? Do you come from the plutonic shores of Mars as an Ambassador from the God of War? Or, are you from the Courts of Infinite Justice, come to proclaim to all the Nations, "Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men"?

And, what have you in store for us as individuals? Will you enter our homes, girdled with a mantle of happiness and good cheer, that we might wish you to remain always? Or, will you enter with a shroud as the drapery for OUR couch, or that of a friend near and dear to us?

Will you leave us here on your departure or will you choose from among us those that are to go before? Who will you choose? We ask again, Who?

RESPONSE

Human beings! Since it pleases you to herald me as the Emissary of Time, I accept your hopeful greetings. My sojourn with you will be but for a brief period. Then, I must continue on with the Eternal Caravan of the Ages. I am not an Ambassador, neither am I the Mediator of Peace or War. Their status is determined by a Court of higher jurisdiction. Of sentiment, I am not possessed. Your human suffering is largely of your own making. I work in conjunction with Nature and if you fail to abide by her immutable laws, then I, at her command, must execute the decree. I am only privileged to choose from among you those that have reached the Three Score and Ten. I am not a Dictator, instead, I am your humble servant, Time, of which I will expect you to take full advantage. Your faithful employment of me will determine your prosperity and your happiness.

The foregoing editorial is from the pen of one of our thinking readers whose thoughts were spurred to meditation by the editorial, "The New Year Begins," which we printed Monday. Read it again and resolve to make time your servant, not your master, during this great year of 1924.

A NEW YEAR BEGINS

Time is a curious thing. We measure it in minutes, hours, days, years, centuries, yet no one knows what it is. All we can tell is that things happen in time, and we measure time merely from one event to another. When nothing happens, when there is no change, we are not conscious of time at all.

Does any point of time matter, more than any other point? Look at the clock, as the hands near twelve on New Year's Eve. That moving minute hand reaches midnight and never hesitates a moment, but goes right on unconcernedly. It is like the speedometer on the automobile, measuring space, which never stops to celebrate at 100 or 1,000 miles, or the comptometer on the mimeograph or the threshing machine, to which one number on the dial means no more than any other.

Is time really like that, and are all human efforts to fix a stepping place or a starting place of no avail?

We don't dare think so—it would be too disheartening. We drop abstract ideas, stop dreaming and get down to real life. We must have our times and places, making our own little human systems in the big universe. We are obliged, for effective living, to treat certain days and hours as if they were really

"A HAPPY NEW YEAR"

This is the time when the average person becomes thoughtful, thankful and hopeful. The Officers of The Clearfield Trust Company want to thank their many customers and friends, for their splendid co-operation and patronage during the past year. They have helped us and we hope we have also helped them. We wish them a Happy New Year.

The Clearfield Trust Company has had one of its best years and appreciates the business not only of its large customers, but of the smallest depositor as well.

The years past have seen many of our small depositors grow to be large ones and it is gratifying to us that we have played a part in shaping their destiny.

CLEARFIELD TRUST CO.

TURN over the page, for a year is done
And nineteen hundred and twenty-three
Is a book that's finished, a yarn that's spun,
A thing that isn't—but used to be;
Here's a brand new page, and a brand new pen
With which to scribble some brand new love.
We can't write last year over again
So—what'll we write in '24?

SHALL we carry over the last year's dope
Of greed, hypocrisy, hate and doubt?
Or shall we substitute Love and Hope
And leave those uglier passions out?
Here's a brand new page and a brand new chance
For a brand new tally, a brand new score.
What'll we write on this clean expanse,
What'll we write in '24?

THE blots and errors of '23
The blurs and scratches are absent here,
For this is a brand new page we see,
A brand new page and a brand new year.
Whatever is written is ours to write;
Shall we improve on the days of yore?
It's up to us—here's a page that's white,
What'll we write in '24?

different from others. So we have our festivals of birth, death, the seasons, etc., with New Year's day as the beginning of the annual life cycle.

New Year's is important because of the everlasting need of taking a fresh start. Every year most of us fall in doing what we wanted to do and getting where we wanted to get. But always, if we are normal human beings, blest with the undying spirit of hope, we expect to do better next year. So the mind triumphs over time. On January 1st we take a full breath and plunge into the stream again with new vigor.

Time itself may be the same, but we are different—for a little while, at least. And as long as we keep up the New Year spirit, we win, and do forge ahead.

OPEN HOUSE AT Y. M. C. A.

The people of Clearfield turned out in large numbers to enjoy the program for the Annual New Year's Open House at the Young Men's Christian Association, and it is estimated that the total attendance was over 1000. The musical numbers were a special treat to the pleased audiences and kept them in the best of spirits throughout. S. K. Martin's Orchestra, under the afternoon program with an hour's concert in the spacious lobby.

At 2:30 the program in the gymnasium under the direction of physical education Director George L. Shannon, opened with lively athletic games for a large crowd of Juniors. This was followed by a clever and fast exhibition volleyball game given by Messrs. Week and Shannon won by the former, score 21-15.

A real treat was enjoyed by the audience that crowded the galleries and even standing in hundreds around the main floor of the gymnasium, when several musical numbers were rendered by Miss Ellen Fryer, a young lady music teacher who has recently taken up her residence in Clearfield, violinist, accompanied by Mrs. Alice Smith Bay at the piano. It proved to be a most pleasant break in the athletic program. The musicians were introduced by Victor C. Frendburg, of the reception committee.

The music was followed by a gymnastic exhibition by senior members John L. Kurtz, Clement and Edward Hile. Intermediates demonstrated some clever mat work. Captains Wilson and Reed had their volleyball teams in good trim for the ball game which was a very close and hotly contested one.

The visitor's gallery of the swimming pool was crowded to the limit long before the swimming exhibition was scheduled to take place and even standing room was at a premium. First there was a Life Saving demonstration by Messrs. Jack Kurtz and Edward Hile. This was followed by fancy driving and swimming various strokes by Edward J. Wilson and Nathan Smith. A snappy relay contest was won by the Intermediates, McCorkle, Neiman, Kline and Connelly they won by ten feet in 58 seconds. Junior relay contestants were McIlvaine, Harder, Forsyth and Schaefer.

The building was open for inspection for the crowds of visitors from two to nine o'clock and many favorable comments were made upon the splendid building and modern equipment in the gym and swimming pool, which should be taken advantage of by business men and women, young men and women as well as the boys and girls of Clearfield. Members of the Board of Directors served as a reception committee throughout the day and escorted the visitors thru the building. They noted with interest the large majority of visitors and parents.

In the evening the program was opened with an excellent musical entertainment by Kenneth Davis and his young people's orchestra. A fast and snappy basketball game between State Five and College Stars was won by the former team 39-19. Between the halves musical selections were rendered by Miss Fryer and Mrs. Bay with most careful attention by the crowded galleries of basketball fans.

Many business men and senior members visited the bowling alleys during the day and tried a hand at rolling them over. The watch fob, an Association emblem was won by A. M. Pease, a business man and bowling fan, who made the highest score for single game, 199. His score was seconded by W. H. Wilson, 184.

The entire day was a bright one in the history of the local Y. M. C. A. and promises to be the beginning of a series of events in the program of the Association throughout the year 1924. The bowling alleys are open afternoons and evenings and special Ladies' Night is scheduled for Thursday evenings when both men and ladies are welcome.

The directors of the Clearfield National Bank continue to march forward in that formation which has meant so much to this community in the way of stable banking facilities. In addition to declaring the regular seven per cent semi-annual dividend they have added $50,000 to the surplus of the institution thus adding appreciably to the security and solidity of this organization of thirty years standing. The year 1923 has been a record one for volume of business transacted and net earnings. The invested capital now stands as follows: Capital stock, $200,000; surplus fund, $250,000, and undivided profits, $19,000.

Market News

Washington, Jan. 2 (INS).—A forecast that the foreign and domestic trade in iron and steel would be greater this year than during 1923, was issued today by the Department of Commerce.

"It is anticipated that United States manufacturers will supply a larger share of the foreign demand for iron and steel than ever before," the Department said.

November iron and steel exports were 15 per cent better than the ten months average of 164,200 tons from January to October. Imports of 26,365 tons were the smallest of the year.

New York, Jan. 2 (INS).—After displaying steadiness in the forenoon trading on the stock exchange today, being stimulated by expressions of industrial and financial leaders regarding continued prosperity in 1924, stocks became extremely dull and inclined to sell lower.

Oils were somewhat heavy, Pacific Oil dropping 1/8-3/8 to 49-5/8, Standard Oil of New Jersey 7-8 to 41, Pan-American Petroleum 3-4 to 60 3/4, Gen. Asphalt 7-8 to 40 and Producers and refiners over 2 points to 39 7/8.

Rails held steady although fractionally lower. Steels were also inclined to heaviness, U. S. Steel losing 3/4 to 98 7/8 and Gulf Steels 1-2 to 62.

Paper Made From Bananas.
Good paper can be made from banana refuse. The trash or refuse, consisting of the stems of banana trees from which the fruit has been cut, is run through crushing rolls, which produces a mash in which the moisture has been reduced from 30 to 55-75 per cent. A pulping machine reduces the mixture to pulp and the pulp and juice are boiled and beaten. The removal of the fibrous material from the beater completes the process, in which no

"Old Stuff" From Arabia.

A New York barber recently got some valuable publicity because he regaled his customers with tea and music. "It was 'old stuff,'" comments William H. Ekers in his new book, "All About Coffee," just published by the Tea and Coffee Trade Journal company, New York. "The Arabian and Turkish barber shops have been serving coffee, tobacco and sweetmeats to their customers for centuries. In Arabia and other oriental countries coffee is part of the ritual of business; shopkeepers serve it to the customer before the argument begins."

Giant Parrot of the Rockies.

A giant parrot with a massive beak and a raucous voice that might have sounded like a megaphone for miles through the ancient timberlands of prehistoric America, once lived in the Rocky mountains, scientists have learned. The bird stood seven feet tall, and its huge head was two and a half feet long. Of this there is no question, as one nearly completed skeleton exists, and fragments of others, including skulls, have been dug up. Several million years probably has elapsed since this mighty fowl trod the earth.

Tom Sims SAYS---

We proposed the following resolutions to be adopted by the board.

Whereas, New Years Day has a blame fool habit of coming around only once every year.

And whereas, the man who said the good die young really was talking about good resolutions.

Also whereas, it is the same old bunch of good resolutions that die young every year.

Another whereas, breaking resolutions weakens the will power and won't power of everybody.

Fourth whereas, breaking resolutions destroys a man's self-respect and his reputation.

Last whereas, the same old set of resolutions have been made over until they are worn out.

Therefore be it resolved by the board, that old resolutions will not be dug up this year.

Further resolved, that in place of resolutions we try to do the best we can during 1924.

And further resolved, that it will be impossible for us to do any better than the best we can.

Still further resolved, that doing the best we can gives more satisfaction than any set of resolutions.

And lastly resolved, that the only resolution we will resolve is not to make any resolutions.

THE BOOK OF 1923 IS CLOSED!

For us, the year held much of good. Prosperity, work that we love and, best of all, your friendship. Last Monday, the 24th, was the biggest one-day sale. 1923 was a bigger year than 1922. Success came because of your patronage, your confidence and your approval.

We open the book of 1924 and on the first page we write, "Our New Year's Gift to our Customers shall be: full value at fair prices, service, courteous and prompt, friendly interest, to you in the future as we have tried to be in the past."

Curwensville's
Own Column

The town of Curwensville is going to start off with the incoming New Year with a brighter business prospect than ever before anticipated. In the first instance there are several new and lasting industries to be brought into the town, which will employ not less than one hundred people, both male and female; the outlook for the brick industries is brighter than it has been for several years back and it is anticipated that the large yard above town will be operated to its fullest capacity during the year 1924. While the tanning industry has not been putting out nearly as much marketable stock as in former years, or since the close of the war, the prospects for a much brisker sale of that product in the eastern markets is looming up rapidly, and from the information at hand it is confidently expected that both of the tanneries in Curwensville will be operating at full speed ere the first month of the new year expires, which will mean nothing more or less than a vast increase in business circles all the way round. The Sonny Blouse factory, which was operated almost every day during the past year, will be enlarged more than one half of its present capacity, sometime during this season, which will mean much to the labor element. The Myers grist mill, as well as that of the Hayes, will not have many idle days. The Loaring Run Stone quarries, which started to operate late in the fall, but was compelled to shut down owing to the chilly weather, will resume work as early in the spring as weather will permit the employment of half a hundred workmen. Mining operators feel that there will be more than extra demand for their product, and should their prognostication prove correct, there will be work and more than enough for those men who follow that hazardous occupation for a livelihood. Therefore, measuring all of these things, from a sensible business standpoint, the people of Curwensville and the town proper will have a busy and profitable summer. The one great drawback is the insufficient number of houses for rent or sale, but we are reliably informed and on good and substantial authority too, that this loophole will be taken care of when the proper time arrives, and elements permit the starting of building some half hundred houses within the borough limits. Curwensville business men are one iota discouraged relative to the better prospects of the town for the year 1924 and will join hand in hand to improve the present condition of business.

Charles Denison and Miss Evon Smeal motored over from Altoona and Sundayed with Mr. and Mrs. J. Robert Eckert at their new home on Eastvue.

Charles and Eugene Smeal have returned to their home in Juniata after a pleasant visit with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller, South Side.

Miles Fullerton, who is employed in Pittsburgh and has made his home in that city for several years, spent several days this week in Curwensville with his aged mother and his brother, Joseph Fullerton.

Mrs. Jard Bloom was stricken down by a sudden illness Sunday at her high street home and for several days was in a serious condition, but today is reported as improving slowly.

Mrs. Ennist, mother of Mrs. John Blake, whose illness was noted in this letter a week ago, is not improving as rapidly as her relatives and friends would wish.

A regular old-time watch-meeting was held in the Christian Alliance church on North Filbert street last night. There was a large number present who witnessed the departure of the old year and welcomed in the new year with song and prayer.

Mrs. Joseph Fullerton and Mrs. Walter Fullerton went to Pine Grove Centre county yesterday to attend the funeral of a cousin of Mrs. Walter Fullerton.

John Proud, a little son of George Proud, Pike township, died at the parent home on Sunday. The funeral was held today interment of the body being made at Centre cemetery.

Mrs. Alice Pent, wife of Fred Pent, died at the Clearfield hospital on Sunday afternoon, aged 37 years. Her body was brought to the home on the Isaac Caldwell farm about a mile from this place. The lady had been in rather poor health for some months, and on Thursday last it was deemed advisable to take her to the hospital for medical treatment. Heart failure was the direct cause of death.

In the Courts

Six separate and distinct specimens of the genus bootlegger started the New Year right by going down to the county jail yesterday for Judge Bell's count of the days they must serve to satisfy the vengeance of the law.

The first and foremost liquor law violator to receive his pay in the wages of his sin was Barney F. Gill, while state trooper, assistant chief of police of Philadelphia, chief of police of Coalport, etc. Barnc was convicted at December court on using his official position in securing moonshine liquor without price and then disposing of same for a price. He was directed to pay $100 fine and 10 days in jail, with privilege of parole at the end of four months on payment of the fine and costs.

Grant Kuhn, who operated a small store so near the Centre county line adjacent to Philadelphia that he was first taken to Bellefonte jail when arrested for bootlegging, was also given $100 fine and costs and eight months in Tom Lowell's soup and bean palace, but if he pays up he may be paroled after 60 days upon his agreeing to get out of business at the place where he had been obliging the neighbors.

Frank Edmonds, a 71-year-old Chester Hill resident, got off by paying the costs, upon the request of Burgess Todd, of Philadelphia, who was responsible for his arrest.

Charles Gaines, a poverty stricken Bradford bootlegger, who had been in jail since Nov. 24th, was paroled on account of the necessities of his family and his agreeing to get a job outside the county in the very near future.

Adolf Dufour, one of the many expert distillers from Atlantic No. 2 who made a bluff at attempting to get his fifty-odd gallons of "good likker" back from the authorities following his arrest for bootlegging several weeks ago, and then changed his mind when he discovered what evidence the Commonwealth possessed, finally got his day in court yesterday. Adolf meekly admitted the charge against him was true and correct, and after discovered there is something in a name. When called up for sentence Judge Bell asked, "What's this man's name?" "Dufour," replied District Attorney Arnold. "That'll be about right," responded the Judge. He continued with "Adolf you will do four months in the county jail in addition to enriching the county to the extent of $100 and reimbursing the taxpayers for the amount of costs made necessary by your apprehension."

Dufour is no doing his four. Matthew Emala drew down a fine of $100 and costs for violation of the auto law, while F. S. Dotts got a similar sentence for running into and damaging Ralph S. Hileman's car and refusing to stop. Sentence on a reckless driving charge was deferred.

Loman Gingery, of Bishtown, who stole a lot of personal property belonging to Elmer E. Murray and was convicted of larceny at December court, will get his mail in care of Sheriff Lowell during 1924, as Judge Bell directed that he pay $100 fine and costs and serve one year in jail.

One of the terrors of autumn is the anaemic poet who insists that nature feels as bad about it as he does.

It's a poor college nowadays that can't muster a football team and a professor or two with queer ideas.

She was born in Italy but was brought to this country when about two years of age. She was united in marriage to Fred Pent and her home life was one of love and contentment. She is survived by her husband, one daughter, her mother and two brothers, one of whom resides in the state of Utah and the other in Huntington W. Va. Her funeral will be held on Wednesday afternoon, Rev. J. C. Collins having charge of the services at the home and at the grave. Interment in Oak Hill cemetery.

Leonard Kantar, who has charge of one of the Kantar Bros. stores at Bradford, and who has been spending a week or better at the home of his parents in Curwensville, will return to his business interests in the north tomorrow.

Mrs. Alice Elder, who had a fall down a stairway one day last week and injured one of her limbs is now able to get around through the house again, although the injury bothers her considerably yet.

Sport News

By DAVIS J. WALSH
I. N. D. SPORTS EDITOR

New York, Jan. 2.—Jack Dempsey, the well known heavyweight, is on the high seas, somewhere off the Virginia coast, bound for Florida to undergo light training in that genial clime for a bout in defense of his title late in the spring. Mr. Dempsey's opponent probably will be Tim Gibbons, the young man who stepped fifteen rounds with the champion at Shelby, Mont.

Dempsey expressed a desire to frolic with three opponents during the coming out door season. The other two are Luis Firpo and Harry Wills.

Rickard has been quoted as saying that two championship starts would be sufficient for Dempsey next summer. One of them, of a certainty, will be against Luis Firpo. The latter is a sure starter against Dempsey in spite of the fact that everyone knows he will fail to finish.

New York, Jan. 2 (INS).—Critics of boxing form were united today in declaring Young Stribling, Maccan, Ga., school boy, to be of championship calibre as a result of the youth's 12 round victory over Dave Rosenberg at Newark. Owing to a state law, no decision was rendered at the end of the bout. None was necessary.

Yesterday's Bouts
At Philadelphia—Nate Goldman, defeated Lew Tendler, ten rounds; Sailor Friedman, Chicago won over Ray Mitchell, Phila, 10 rounds.

At Pittsburgh—Pancho Villa won decision over Tony Norman, Pittsburgh, 10 rounds.

At Akron—Joe Lynch, Bantam-weight champion, knocked out Jimmy Murphy, St. Louis, 3rd round.

At Portland, Ore.—Fred Foltor Minneapolis, knocked out George Lamson, Omaha, 2nd round.

At Grand Rapids—Joe Lohman, Toledo, and Soldier King, Grand Rapids—latter substituting for Battling Siki draw; 10 rounds.

At Buffalo Rocky Kansas, Buffalo won from Ted Meyers, Buffalo, ten rounds.

SLASHES WIFE WHO
KNIFE ON CHILD

Monessen, Pa., Jan. 2 (INS).—Mr. John Lucas, 37, is confined in the home of a friend here in a serious condition as a result of an attack by her husband who is alleged to have cut her about the face and body yesterday when she refused to perform an operation on the throat of their three-year old son who has suffered from impediment in speech since his birth.

Lucas it is said attacked her with two butcher knives. A patrolman was attracted by the screams of the Lucas children. He overpowered Lucas after the man tried to tell him with several blocks of wood, it was said. Lucas is in the Monongehela Valley Hospital suffering from bullet wounds in the legs received in his fight with the officer.

Miss Mary Picard, of Crozer avenue, is spending a few days with her sister Mrs. Michael Shaddock at Karthaus.

Milford Rouce, of South Third street, is visiting friends and relatives in Karthaus.

Mrs. Nettie Schiefer Coleman, Detroit, has returned to Clearfield to live with her brother, Hiram Schiefer on West Front street.

A southern college has installed a chair of business speech. Judging from a letter or two we have read, it would be a better world.

Guard Against "Flu"
With Musterole

Influenza, Grippe and Pneumonia usually start with a cold. The moment you get those warning aches, get busy with good old Musterole.

Musterole is a counter-irritant that relieves congestion (which is what a cold really is) and stimulates circulation. It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

Just rub it on with your finger-tips. First you will feel a warm tingling as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness.

To Mothers: Musterole is now made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole. 35c and 65c, in jars and tubes.

PREMATURE BLAST
OF NITRO KILLS
SIX AT FRANKLIN

Franklin, Pa., Jan. 2 (INS).—An investigation was under way here this morning to fix responsibility for the premature exploding of 15 quarts of nitro-glycerine here late yesterday which took a toll of six lives.

The explosion occurred on the farm of John A. Stone, where a new oil well is being shot.

The dead include: Mr. and Mrs. Paul Stone, 27 and 26, respectively, of Sugar Creek.

Herbert, 33 and John Whiteman, 21 of Muttontown.

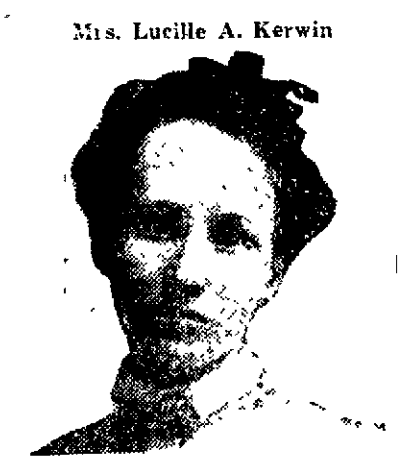

Robert Kinnear, 45, of Catchel Run.

Eugene H. Neil, of Franklin.

The victims had gone to the well with J. D. Scrivens, 36, and Lawrence McWhinney, 37, of Franklin. Kinnear was to have shot the well.

The nitro-glycerine had been frozen and Kinnear is said to have thawed it out.

He started away from the well to watch the blast and was about 100 feet away when the explosion occurred. McWhinney had been sent to a creek some distance away to get

Why do we sneeze?

—because the coming on of a cold in the head irritates the delicate membrane lining of the nose. This induces a local nervous convulsion, which extends to the lungs and causes a violent expulsion of air. Follow up that sneeze with Puretest Aspirin Tablets and let them help expel the dangers that lurk in a cold or the gripe.
